

Farm

3-layer rustic parquet floor treated with oxidative oil

Farm is the perfect imitation of an old farmhouse floor. The look of this flooring is very rustic with lots of knots and cracks.

This flooring has a very authentic look thanks to the manually distressed V-groove. The surface has also been manually scraped and brushed.

The finish with Woca oil is applied in different layers and left to dry by oxidation.

The objective of the Farm collection is creating real authenticity. Therefore one must always keep in mind that the planks can partly be very rustic.

Therefore we expressly recommend to sort out a number of planks during the installation of the parquet if they are too rustic to your personal taste.
